LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

In the Bastille.

Yesterday afternoon Justice Hamner sentenced the fourteen vagabonds, who were arrested at the T. H. & P. round house north of the Union depot on last Thursday, to terms in the jail ranging from twenty to sixty days for vagrancy. When the justice announced the sentences one distinguished bun raised a howl, insisting that they were not vagabonds—only drunks. His feelings were very sensitive, indeed, to any statement that might possibly injure his reputation. The unfortunate gentlemen are now inmates of the Hotel Manzy, the noble guests giving their names as Wm. Mason, Henry Etheridge, James Mullerhorn, George Anderson, George Wilson, Frank Morgan, John Fry, James Buck, James Keller, William Stewart, Thomas Lee, John Allen, Thomas Read and C. L. Stewart.

The Late Mrs. Shaffer.

The State Journal contained the following authorized sketch of the late Mrs. J. D. Shaffer:

SHAFER—Died, Jan. 23, at the family residence, 411 South Eighth street, at 4:30 a. m. Martha J., wife of J. D. Shaffer, aged 33 years.

Mrs. Shaffer was born at Scranton, Pa., May 3, 1856. She came to Decatur, Ill., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Perry, in 1863. She was married to J. D. Shaffer, Dec. 7, 1876, and removed to this city in December, 1882. Deceased was a devoted member of the First M. E. church. She leaves a husband and one child, Edith, aged 11 years. Mrs. Shaffer had been ailing for a year and a half, and during that time had been confined to bed six months. Mrs. M. A. Bradley, Mrs. J. M. Park and Mrs. J. H. Snarr, of Decatur, sisters of the deceased, were in the city Wednesday in attendance at her bedside. Mrs. Bradley returned to her home Wednesday evening and was notified of the death of her sister and will return to the funeral with other relatives from Decatur.

The funeral will occur at Springfield on Monday.

The Farm Work-Shop.

A convenient and well equipped workshop is one of the essentials of the farm. It need not be large nor expensive, but it should be ample to afford shelter and a comfortable place to work on rainy days or in stormy months of winter. A good plan is to provide room for the workshop at one end of the house or shed which the thrifty farmer builds for the storage of his farm machinery. The shop should have a work bench, vice, saw horses, and the necessary tools for the work of constructions or repair. And it would be well to add a cheap forge and anvil for use at times when it is not convenient to go to the neighborhood blacksmith.

And the farmer's boys should not only be permitted but should be encouraged to use the tools, and learn how to keep them in order. The average boy possesses some genius for construction, as well as a bent toward destruction, and directed to useful ends. Many a boy will acquire skill in mechanic arts if given a chance. Give the boys a chance and humor their genius wherein it shows the least trend in the direction of industry and utility.

"Lord Chumley."

Regarding Mr. E. H. Sothen, who appears at the Grand Tuesday night in his new comedy, "Lord Chumley," the Philadelphia Press says:

While his honored father gave pleasure to hundreds of thousands of people in this country and England for many years in the role of "Lord Dundreary," it was only after years of adversity that he attained that prominence. His young progenitor, however, at the very beginning of a dramatic career, creates the character of "Lord Chumley" that is likely to bring him equal fame.

If you are yellow, bilious, constipated, with headache, bad breath, drowsy, no appetite, look out, your liver is out of order. One box of these Pills will drive all the trouble away and make a new being of you. Price, 25 cents. John A. Swearingen, agent.

A note from Taylorville states that the Mount Auburn and Taylorville Railroad Company has been incorporated, with a capital stock of $50,000, divided up into 500 shares of $100 each. The incorporators number forty-eight, and are citizens of Mount Auburn and Mosquito townships, Taylorville and Springfield. Work is to be commenced on the new road February 1, which will run from Taylorville to Mount Auburn, a distance of about fifteen miles, and will run through one of the richest agricultural regions in Christian county. The principal offices will be located at Taylorville.

A recent decision of the Illinois supreme court says that no town or city has any right to give a man license or a permit to sell any wares or merchandise on the sidewalk or street in front of the property of another person. The street in front of a man's place of business is held to be appurtenant to the lot on which his store is erected and situated and for his business against all others, except only the right to travel thereon.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. For sale at Dr. A. J. Stoner's Drug Store.

Questions Answered by Miss F. E. Willard.

At the Grange celebration held in Hillsboro, Ohio, December 23, a question-box was opened, and the following answers were given by Miss Willard, President of the National W. C. T. U.:

Question.—"What relation has the W. C. T. U. to politics?"

Answer.—"We endorse every man who dedicates his vote to God and humanity, and wherever the Republican party stand as they have in Dakota, we stand by and endorse them. We are only committed to the party that stands by our principles, no matter what name, and this stand only have we taken, in our state and national conventions."

Question.—"Has the W. C. T. U. ever been sectarian?"

Answer.—"Catholic priests, Jewish rabbis and all denominations have sat together on our platforms. We conquer through the cross of Christ."

Question.—"Will God destroy the gin-shop himself, or will he work through man?"

Answer.—"As the battery is to the little wire of the telegraph, so God is the power behind, and works to all through agencies for reform."

Question.—"Can a Christian vote for high-license and pray 'Thy kingdom come'?"

Answer.—"What we license we protect. I cannot see how a Christian can vote for high-license unless he is morally chloroformed. It is his duty to vote for reform on one generation. It is the devil's counterfeit. Liquor men say, 'Work for high license; it is our only salvation.'"

Miss Willard, speaking of the outlook for 1890, said: "The outlook is good; the outlook is better. Hannah Whitall Smith says: 'Keep your top eye open; it is the skylight of the soul.' The outlook is cheerful because we are not looking at the waves around, but to Him who walks the waves. More and more we are coming to action and more in earnest than ever before the action of Mrs. Foster. Because these women want to do a different way, we bear them no ill will. We shall still carry our white ribbon emblem of purity and peace. If we are good natured when we agree, that is easy, but to disagree with perfect gentleness, that is God's spirit acting upon ours. This outlook, with all its contrary, will only make us give ourselves more to the up-lake. We go on in reformatory work, we build better than we know, and all differences will react for good."

Reserved Seats in Mexico.

You don't have to bother securing reserved seats in some of the Mexican theaters, for there are no seats at all. You just send a servant ahead with one of your own chairs and he does all the hustling necessary to secure a good position. If you don't have any servant or chair available, you can hire a chair at the door for 6 cents from an old woman who, as you pay her, will murmur: "Give me a cigarette, señor, for God's sake" in liquid Castilian. She doesn't mean to be irreverent; she is only using a common idiom.

To Utilize Wave Power.

A caveat for improvement in ocean wave motors has been filed with the commissioner of patents by S. A. Leftingwell, of Coronado Beach, through his attorney, Clara Foltz. The object of the invention is to convert the forces of the waves of the ocean into a motive power for driving machinery on shore for electric lighting, etc.

This is accomplished by means of a float placed in the open sea. In the float are tubes extending to a depth of thirty or forty feet below sea level, open at the bottom and closed at the top in such a manner as to retain a pressure of air. At the top of each tube is a valve opening to admit air into the tube and closing against an outward current.

There is also a valve opening into a pressure reservoir through which air may pass out, corresponding to the valve gear of an ordinary pump. By this arrangement air is pumped into the reservoir with a pressure suitable for driving an engine located on the float and connected with a dynamo converting the power into electricity. The electricity is transmitted by electric cable and used as a driving power, or otherwise, as may be desired. Experiments were recently made on the bay, with the most satisfactory results.

The machine, however, is intended for use in deep sea, and is not to be used in shallow water. Any amount of power can be had, according to the size of the plant used. The principle of the motor is practical and economical, and its inventor lives on Coronado beach.—San Diego Sun.

About Stanley's Hair.

The correspondent who went up country to meet Stanley describes his hair as being quite white. This he ascribes to the privations of the expedition. But those who met him at Stanley when he was formerly in this country will be reminded by the telegrams of an incident regarding which the great explorer was some years ago twitted by his friends. As a matter of fact, his hair had become white long ago. But Mr. Stanley did not appreciate the venerable appearance which his gray locks gave him. They became black again a good deal more suddenly than they had grown white. In view of the chance of another curious change of this kind, it is rather awkward that their present color should have been so universally made known.—London Cor. Edinburgh Scotsman.

COUNTRY ROADS.

Chat on the Subject—How to Improve Them.

Any suggestion looking to the improvement of our roads ought to be of interest. That they have been considerably bettered in the last twenty years is undeniable, but much remains to be done yet. "Road Drainage" was discussed last week at Bloomington by a convention of the highway commissioners. We quote from the report of their proceedings:

Supervisor Cole said: "The bad work of a thorough revolution in road work. He believed in grading the roads, and he thought it was better to first thoroughly tile the low places. The tile should be placed along the edge of the road, and not in the road, and he had had satisfactory results in putting the tile over the adjacent field a rod from the line of the road. The purpose should be to get the water off, rather than to pile the earth high up on the road."

Mr. John Armstrong, of Allen, said in his township they had tiled most of their roads lying the tile at the foot of the grade. The high grades have not proven the thing. They have leveled and graded down their roads and have them just so the water will run off well and then have them well tiled, and he is well satisfied with their work. He did not favor the idea of people working out their road taxes and thought it the better plan to pay the road tax and hire people to run the grader.

Mr. Geo. Craig, of Hudson, told how he, several years ago, against the opposition of the people, did the first road tiling that was done in his township. He threw up a high turnpike and tiled along the side and across it, and it gave the best of satisfaction, but the modern way was to simply round up the road and tile at the side and it was highly satisfactory.

Mr. Henry Sholly, of Dale, said: "I hit upon a plan last spring of getting the work done earlier in the season in May." He thought the work of grading the roads could be done under the cash system for about one-half the cost of the labor system.

Mr. W. J. Bayner, of Funk's Grove, said there are places along the road we might not grade. We ought not to disturb the virgin soil when the road was good. Mr. W. J. Barnes, of Mt. Hope, said he worked under the cash system. We employ two men. We send them out early in the spring. At first they employ them mending bridges and culverts, and then after that is done they commence with the graders and continue working the graders till late in the fall, when they go to work again on the bridges, and we have pretty good roads.

The monthly institute of the teachers of the city was held this morning in the High School building. The subject for study and discussion was Memory. The recitation was conducted by Prof. Edwards, whose excellent analyses of the subjects from time to time are welcome and helpful. After the conclusion of the session Superintendent N. C. Dougherty addressed the teachers on the subject of Boys. Fourteen years experience as superintendent of schools in Peoria has given him an acquaintance with those "troublesome animals" that lends to his remarks a peculiar force and aptness.

Gone.
The Freeport visitors had a gay time in Decatur yesterday afternoon before their departure for the south at 5 o'clock. They had a look at the Grand opera house, visited the parlors of the Calumet and Decatur Clubs, were given an exhibition of the efficiency of the fire department, and met many of the leading citizens of the community. They left very favorably impressed with the wealth and enterprise of Decatur and more than pleased with the excellent condition of the brick-paved streets. Come again, gentlemen!

Three parties have got into trouble with Uncle Sam, because of the late sale of the Keister saloon. Julius Keister and J. R. White were arrested, and each was taken to Springfield to be fined $25 each, and last night A. B. Johnson, was arrested at the instance of Deputy Revenue Collector McClellan. He was taken to Springfield this morning to take his medicine. It appears that in the transfer the parties failed to put up the required money for the change of stamps, hence the arrests. Johnson, who hails from Moawana, was on his way to Indianapolis to look after 700 acres of land left him by a relative. He didn't want to go to jail, and his lawyer, Attorney Harris, of Clinton, who had come here to go to Indianapolis with him, put up the cash to have Constable Midkiff guard the prisoner all night. Marshal Mason has had a standing order to arrest Johnson on sight, and it was done.

It is desirable that the names of delegates chosen to the state convention be certified to headquarters not later than February 21st. It is expected that the Hon. John M. No Bill.
The members of the grand jury have been making close inquiries as to the mysterious circumstances attending the injury and death of the late Joe Robinson, but we learn that no one will be indicted. The probabilities are that Robinson was injured accidentally and that he was simply taken home by friends, as they had done on former occasions.

All men are invited to hear Rev. H. W. Brown again Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. He will continue his subject of last Sunday, "The Social Question," at the Baptist church.
